

Asiah Sadiq

Articing Student

.....

Toronto

(416) 862-6415

asadiq@osler.com

.....

As an aspiring legal professional, Asiah possesses a versatile skill set that allows her to excel in various practice areas. Her 1L experience at another law firm provided her with invaluable experience in providing litigation support in contentious cases before Ontario's courts. This involved conducting extensive legal research on complex issues in civil procedure and drafting various legal documents such as statement of claims and motions. Asiah also gained valuable courtroom experience through attending mediations and discoveries.

During her first year in law school, Asiah embarked on an entrepreneurial venture by establishing a tutoring service tailored specifically for fellow law students. Recognizing the need for personalized academic support in navigating the complexities of legal education, she founded this business to provide academic assistance to her peers.

In addition, Asiah's pre-law school experiences both in the healthcare and legal industry significantly informs her legal journey today by providing her with firsthand insight into the complexities of regulatory frameworks and the intricate dynamics of both industries. Drawing from these experiences, she brings a level-headed approach to the practice of law, maintaining composure, and delivering results high quality results.

Awards and Recognition

- Sprucegrove Investment Management Scholarship
- Helen Norma Laframboise Scholarship

Community Involvement

- Community Legal Aid Windsor, Case Worker
 - Windsor Law Debate Club, Event Coordinator
 - Peer Mentorship Program, Mentor
 - Accessibility Services, Peer Note Taker for Students with Disabilities
-

Credentials

Education

- University of Windsor, Juris Doctor (2025)
 - University of Toronto, Honours Bachelor of Science
-

Languages

- English
- Pashto
- Urdu
- Farsi