Penelope has recently completed her first year of law school at Queen’s University Faculty of Law. Prior to attending law school, she obtained her Bachelor of Arts (Specialized Honours) in Law and Society from York University.

She is actively engaged in the Queen’s Law community as a Volunteer Editor of the Queen’s Law Journal, where she supports the journal’s publication and editorial process. She also serves as Co-President of the Queen’s Law Cancer Society, leading fundraising initiatives in support of cancer research. Penelope has further developed her advocacy skills through her participation in the 2026 Hicks Morley Moot, where she advanced to the semi-final round.

Outside of law school, Penelope is an Ambassador with Brain Cancer Canada, contributing to initiatives that have raised significant funds for brain cancer research.
