Avi is an associate in the Tax Group at the Montréal office.

His practice focuses on tax matters involving private clients, high-net-worth individuals, families, trusts, estates, family offices and closely-held family enterprises. He advises on estate and post-mortem tax planning, estate freezes, intergenerational wealth and business transfers, trust planning, and planning for families that own and control private corporations.

His experience also includes mergers and acquisitions, corporate reorganizations and restructuring transactions, pre-sale tax planning, cross-border estate structuring, real estate tax issues and transactions involving non-residents.
