Justin is an associate in the Privacy and Data Management Group of our Toronto office. His practice focuses on privacy, cybersecurity, and technology matters, and involves assisting clients with privacy compliance, data governance, data security incident response and preparedness, commercial agreements and transactions, and regulatory investigations.

Justin is a Certified Information Privacy Professional for Canada (CIPP/C) and the United States (CIPP/US) through the International Association of Privacy Professionals (IAPP).

Justin holds a J.D. from Osgoode Hall Law School and an LL.M. from Georgetown Law where he was a National Security Law Scholar and focused his studies on privacy, cybersecurity, and AI law and policy. At Georgetown, he was an Assistant Notes Editor for the Georgetown Law Technology Review, a Peer Reviewer for the Journal of National Security Law & Policy, and a Legal Extern at the Center for AI and Digital Policy. At Osgoode, he was an oralist for the winning team at the national Julius Alexander Isaac Moot Competition.

Justin is frequently involved in community volunteering and is the former President and Chair of the Federation of Asian Canadian Lawyers (Ontario Region). In recognition of his community leadership, he received the Emerging Leader Award from his alma mater, Victoria College at the University of Toronto.

Prior to joining Osler, Justin was a privacy and cybersecurity associate at another international law firm based in Canada.
